Day-by-day itinerary

Day 1: Sunday 3rd August 2025

London – Cliveden - Oxford.

Pick up central London early afternoon and transfer to Cliveden House for an afternoon visit. Set high above the Thames, with far-reaching views from the gardens, Cliveden is a grand country house which has been remodelled many times. The estate was given to the National Trust by William Waldorf Astor. Nancy Astor was the first woman to take up her seat in the British Parliament in 1919. As well as its use as a hospital in WWI, the house was at the centre of the infamous Profumo scandal in the 1960's, though there is limited access to the house as it is now run as a country house hotel. However, the gardens are extensive, including a Water Garden, the famous parterre, a walk down to the Thames (but remember you have to walk back up), a maze and second hand bookshop. Continue to Oxford for check in for one night stay. Dinner at an Oxford College dining room.

Day 2: Monday 4th August 2025

Full day Oxford and on to Swindon area.

Morning guided walking tour of central Oxford with its wealth of beautiful colleges and other architectural treasures. Afternoon free for independent exploration – options include the Bodleian Library, Ashmolean Museum, History of Science Museum, Pitt Rivers Museum, Natural History Museum and not forgetting Blackwell's second hand bookshop and the very first Oxfam charity shop. Continue to Swindon area for check in to hotel for dinner and overnight.

Day 3: Tuesday 5th August 2025

Stonehenge, Avebury, Salisbury.

A packed day of contrasts as we first head to the mystery that is Stonehenge, one of the most iconic sights in the UK. We'll also visit the ancient site at Avebury before heading to the lovely cathedral city of Salisbury to visit the cathedral and enjoy its historic centre. Dinner and overnight in Salisbury.

Day 4: Wednesday 6th August 2025

Bath and on to Cardiff.

Our final day takes us to the UNESCO World Heritage site of Bath, one of the most beautiful and architecturally intact cities in the world. Dating back to Roman times – we will visit the famous Roman Baths – it is a gorgeous city that enjoyed its heyday as a spa in Georgian times which has left a wondrous architectural legacy throughout the city. Time free for personal exploration before continuing to Cardiff, venue for the annual conference.
